ABOUT THE DIRECTOR

"It is not easy to capsulize 800 years of history into a few moments on the stage," says Barry Crossland, Director of ENRICO IV. "The play, however, was written so that it could be given in any time and maintain its relevance to humanity. Pirandello intended it to be a very abstract play and has made much use of symbolism." "We have tried to show this in our use of lighting effects." Mr. Crossland is the head of the Speech Dept. at Fort Scott High School. He received his degree at Pittsburg State College. He makes his home in Ft. Scott with his wife Barbara and his two daughters.
